To the Industrious Students in Astrologie.

GENTLEMEN!

I Having (by Gods Providence) been enabled to make a far larger enquiry into the Genethliacal Part of Astrologie, then any man of this Nation that ever appeared publickly, and finding it impossible to bring that honourable Branch thereof to perfection without the consulting of many exact Nativities, which of divers persons are very difficult to be gotten, and of some not at all; Negligence and Ignorance having (to this time) been the onely impediments hereunto: That the same blot may not be cast upon the Students of this Age, as remains upon those of former times; I therefore make it my Request unto you all, to select the Nativities of several persons of different Conditions and Degrees, into certain Classes; whether they shall be of Potentates, either Ecclesiastical or Civil, Nobles, Gentry, or Commons, &c. or of Short Life, Twins, Healthful, Sickly; of violent or peaceable Lives or Deaths, &c. for as Orig. fol. 522. hath it, Fertinet ad fidem & diligentiam Astrologorum, omnium quantum fieri potest Principum, Ducum, Comitum, Nobilium, Consulum, precipuorum quoq; Theologorum, Episcoporum, Consiliariorum, Medicorum, Genituras inquirere, &c. And then consider the Arguments among them that are Synonymous, and those that differ, and thence endeavour their Reconciliation. I have attempted somewhat of this kinde in my Collectio Geniturarum; and at present am endeavouring a further discovery of those mysterious Truths! But the whole Burthen is too great to be born by one man.

Multorum manibus grande levatur Onus.

Let me en-treat you likewise, to use your best industry for the obtaining the Nativities of all persons born 1657. and 1658. and such of them as you finde vital, to preserve; if not for your own present advantage, yet for the good of Posterity: for by this means you may not onely advantage your Art, but also easily discover the most remarkable persons of any Faculty that shall eminently appear in the next Age. Or what Emolument it had been to Astrologers and Astrologie if the Genitures of those persons born 1599. and 1600. (and some particular years after) had been known and remembered, I need not inculcate. But this I assure you, I am not so great a Fatist but that I believe much of the mischief this Nation (during its Civil Wars) underwent, might (by such a knowledge) have been prevented.

Let me entreat you also, to take especial notice of the Births of all those (Male Children especially, let their parentage be great or mean) that shall be born Septemb. 4. or 5. this year: for then six of the seven Planets be Essentially Dignified. And Astrologers say, Felicissima erit Genesit, &c. That cannot but be a most happy Nativity in which three of the Planets (then surely much more in which six) shall be Essentially Fortified.

And now, (Gentlemen) to encourage you the more in this matter, I promise you not to be idle herein my self; and upon any of your modest Requests, shall not onely be willing to comply, but exchange Notes.

JOHN GADBURY.

To Wounded Men, best Surgeons are of use;
 To Bodies sound, all physick is abuse:
 So unto such who Quarrels do promote,
 (And strive to cut their peaceful Neighbor's Throat)
 The Laws are useful! [Such as kindle Wars,
 (By my consent) should ne'er want Wounds & Scars.]
 "But unto those that love to be at peace,
 "The Law of course indulgeth Writs of Ease.

K.C. I. inserted at Winds. 1648

A worthy person standing by at his Interment, threw this Dyrtich into the Vault after his Corpse, viz.

Non Carolus Magnus, nec Carolus Quintus;
Sed Carolus Agnus, hic jacet inus.

Which I have elsewhere thus Englished:

Not Charles the Fifth, nor Charles the Great, he here;
 But Charles the Lamb? A Prince without a Peer.

The 18, 19, & 20. days of this month, anno 1652. the English fought the Dutch: A more desperate Sea-engagement hath not been known.

March hath xxxi days.

As Royal Phobus mounts the heart nely Ram,
 Grim Chronus to his Dexter Square doth come.
 Splendid Ericina (in tender Age)
 Is subject unto Mars his swelling Rage.
 Thus rough the month begins: but toward the end,
 Both Men and Things (in all respects) amend.

April hath xxx days.

Now Satels Dealer begin to cast about,
Some to finde good, and others mischief out:
That Kassierer both pl. alant April bear,
Which are der-hatent d by che good that's there.
If heape of Happiness men do enjoy,
What can a brutal Prejudice annoy?

May hath xxxi days.

The 1st of May, when I find, The Sun and Mars
In Quartile move, to finde home-bred Fars;
Chronus opposeth Silboe, & b the Time
Of Love and Venus, unites all again;
The Ruffest Pill, that ere Physician gave
To the Sick, is good, if 't keep him from the Grave.

The Planets angry Aspects (here) in June,
Bode Mischief great within the Minds of men :
Great Spain and France to purpose out of Tune ;
And England bent to Folly once agen.

But this I dare predict :— The Tray'rous Foes
Of all the Three, are Ruin'd in the Close.

1													The first day, at 9 at night, the
2													moon may be seen with Al-
3													debaran in the East.
4													Oliver Cromwel died 1658
5													See the Astral cause thereof, in
6													his Nativity, published among
7													my Collectio Genituraum .
8													Lo. Chancellor at Ox. 1661
9													Princess Elizabeth died 1670
10													See her Nativity in my Colle-
11													ction of Genitures; as also
12													in the Nativity of our late
13													dread Sovereign Lord King
14													Charles the first.
15													Henry D. of Glouc. died 1660
16													The Reasons of his death are
17													to be seen in his Nativity,
18													published among my Colle-
19													ction of Genitures.
20													Treary in Isle wight beg. 1648
21													Could not the Rebels at the first
22													Dispatcht their Sov'raign killy?
23													Oh no! that were not to be just;
24													They'll rather sooth him highly.
25													The Nations Faith must be en-
26													gag'd, (dome)
27													The King shall treat with free-
28													Then Englands swelling shall af-
29													swage;
30													And all men cry, God speed 'um.
													Thus under a most just pretence,
													Is mask'd their baser Treason;
													Until by a dam'd Law-defence,
													They make their Murder Reason!

*I have heard it credibly reported of Bradshaw, that when he was a Boy, he had a Prescience of the grand Villany and Treason that he acted against our and his dread Sovereign K. C. & expressed it in relation to himself & his two elder Brothers, thus:

Tom shall possess his fathers land,
and Dick shall be at his command;
and I (poor Jack) shall once do that *Bradshaw died 1659

A Table of the Essential Dignities of the Planets, according to Ptolemy.

[illegible]

The Figure of the World, and Astrological Judgements, &c. follow. Unto

A Table of the Essential Dignities of the Planets, according to Ptolemy.

90 deg. 6 min.

UNto this Position of Heaven for the ☉'s entering the Vernal Equinox, — the Tables and Observations of the Learned Kepler, and those of my worthy Friend Mr. Waring; — the many Observations (and Calculations thence) of that expert and laborious Mathematician Mr. R. Norwood. — As also those Observations of that ever-honoured Dane; Tycho-Brabe; and of our own Country-man Mr. Edm. Wright; cum multis aliis — of many other Nations — do to a very minute and imperceptible difference assent.

If therefore I have rejected the Errors of a late pretended Rectifier of Astronomy among us, who without either Reason or Modesty hath impugned all those learned and ingenious Mens Endeavours; — Weakly pretending, by false Reductions, and wresting of Observations for his purpose, (as hath been charged in Print upon him) to make us believe we are out no less in the Suns place then five Minutes in Motion, viz. two hours in time, and sometimes more: — I hope I may reasonably be excused.

As Cicero well said of Philosophy, so may I of Astronomy: Philosophia Multitudinem consulit, paucisq; est contenta Judicibus: It consultatively avoideth the Multitude, and is satisfied with a few Judges. And I well know the Multitude is an Argument of the worst; they will still judge like themselves. — But certainly, where Observations have been so sedulously and seriously made, by so many able and choice Persons, (none of the Multitude) and in different places, with no designe to promote Errors; but with great care, pains and cost, to advance the truth of this Noble Art; and this with such curious Instruments fitted and made for the purpose, that the world cannot, could not afford better, and more proper; and all these to agree with each other, to an Issa, or tittle; or at the least, to so inconsiderable a difference, that it may in Judicature pass for none at all. —

I say, where such a Concurrency is, we ought not to suppose it to have the least semblance or colour of a common Error, or indeed any Error at all; but esteem it as a conspicuous and Sun-like Truth. — Neither indeed ought we to admire any mans single Authority against the same; let his Confidence and pretences be what he please. The Gregorian account (taking its name from Pope Grego 7 the 13.) established by the Council of Nice, Anno 324. though much more exact then that which we at present embrace, is by all the Learned in Astronomy, deemed somewhat Erroneous: How much (in this place) I shall not say, because it would take me up too much room to insert. If then the Resolves of a General Council be lyable to question, certainly much more are the Opinions of a particular Person.

Nevertheless, I must ingenuously acknowledge, that I am rather sorry for the Mists that bespake, in that he hath spent so much time to so little purpose, then any way angry at his Errors committed; although he hath been (cautiously) meddling at my Name and Reputation. For I am so Charitable, as to believe he intended well; although his ill Fate (like an

Ignis fatuus, hath led him into the Boggs and Ditches of most foul mistakes. I have onely writ thus much, to inform those ingenious Artists, who seem to me to be neerly perswaded to swallow this Mistaken Doctors Pill; and least thereby their Knowledge in Astronomy, be also diseased; I advise them to Look before they Leap; and try (if they are able) the Observations and Tables of the before-mentioned worthily deserving Persons.

Judicium Astrologicum.

BEfore I proceed to my Judgements Astrological, it is requisite that I take notice of the Fortitudes and Debilities of the Planets in the Figure of the Vernal Equinox; which are thus—

☉ ☿ ♂ ☊ ♂ ♂ ♂ ♂	{	strong	}	by	{	11	}	Testimonies;
		strong				17
		strong				15
		strong				3
		strong				9
		weak				20
		strong				6
		strong				14

It is apparent by this Collection of Testimonies, that the two superior Planets, Saturn and Jupiter, are the most powerful Planets in the Figure; and may therefore claim the Prerogative of being Lords of the year: chiefly in that they both so fortunately happen to receive their Exaltations in the prime Angles of the Scheme; and are themselves in so happy a reception of each other.

The Learned Henry de judic. Astrar. fol 367. saith, — Si quidem E. fuerit Dominus anni, et fuerit firmus, significat quod illo anno fiet multa edificia et populi propagationes, et nascetur in terra multa virginitas et erunt ibi, et melius habebit fructus in annis et vultus ad faciem fortificationes, et terra in suis fructibus abundabit, et populus habebit boni et utilitates multas, et maxime a quibus et vultus habebit, &c. — 16 Saturn being Lord of a year, shall be powerful (as here) there will be many new Buildings, and a great increase of people; several new Rivers not known in the Land before; shall spring forth; the Husbandman shall have a better Market for his Corn, and all things relating to Victuals, then usual; the Country shall abound with Fruits, and great Utility or Profit shall accrue unto the Country-man and Day-labourer, &c.

If now we shall consider the Position of Saturn in the Figure, we shall find him posited in the third house. And the same Author says, — Si quando I. fuerit in domo tertia ab Ascendente, potens et fortunatus, quod illo anno unanimiter latrabuntur homines, diligant et associabunt se, et paciscuntur inimiciis, et mala voluntas quae fuerat inter eos, &c. — Saturn in the third, declares men to rejoyce unanimously, that they shall be friends, shall love and delight to associate with each other; all former Animositie which was among them shall be laid aside, and they shall not envy or malign one another as they have done. — But this is to be understood, that Saturn, quatenus Saturn, doth not signifie such happiness, but as he is Lord of the year, and potent and strong; by vertue whereof, all his pernicious qualities are permuted. — I shall in the next place mention an Authority or two of Jupiter and the Moon, which seem excellently well to quadrare with the happy and auspicious Significations before remembered.

Si V. fuerit in quarta, significat augmentationem bonorum plurimum hominum ex reliquiis mortuorum, et ex hereditatibus atque praediis, vel ex Thesauris absconditis vel inopinatiis, et rebus antiquis, &c. — Jupiter in the fourth signifies an Augmentation and great increase of Fortune to many by casual Inheritances, and by the Estates of the Dead; Men shall also reap eminent advantage by Husbandry and Tillage; and shall be enriched by hidden Treasure, and by such matters or things which have formerly belonged to their Ancestors: their Sorrows and troubles shall diminish, and their happiness rise and increase.

And these happinesses are much added unto by the Moon her being in Conjunction of Jupiter in the fourth house; by which Configuration she is made safe, then by her being in conjunction with the Sun, who can possibly suffer. Hanc Dicit Agrippa, — Si I. et Luna coniungantur in quarta, homines ut verisimile est innumerabiliter prosperabuntur, et in aqua pluvia temperata et profectu-

The state of the year predicted.

 When the Moon in the Revolution of a year shall be firm and safe, (as here) men shall be preserved from slaughters and insurances, and there shall happen many reasonable, profitable and temperate showes; and in the general, it shall prove a Good, Fortunate and Fruitful Year.

Hence it naturally emergeth, that the Year in the general will be propitious and fortunate to all kinds of Persons; but chiefly to the Husbandman, and unto those that Till the Earth, and such as have to do about Edifices, Buildings, Repairings, &c. I should here speak of Sickness, of Publique and Private Enemies, &c. but my Scantling of Paper appointed me being too narrow to contain all things that may reasonably be deduced from a Celestial Figure, I shall desire my Readers to pardon me if therein I am at this time the more brief.

First, of Sickness.

It is to be feared that Surfeits and Fevers, and tedious lasting Venereal Diseases will principally (this Year) reign among men: for Venus, Lady of the Ascendant, is fixed in the fifth house, in Conjunction of Cauda Draconis, and in Opposition of Mars, Lord of the eighth house: whence we may rationally conclude, that many of them will terminate in Death. But these things shall chiefly happen to young men, &c. because Venus, the Lady of the Ascendant, is an inferior our Planer, and Mercury her fellow inferior, is in his Detrimment and Fall; Retrograde and Peregrine, in the sixth house. The Moon with Jupiter in the fourth house, (the being Lady of the Tenth) pretenses, that such persons may preserve many from Death: according to the beforesaid Aphorism of Jupiter and the Moon.

Secondly, of Publique Enemies.

The fiery Planer Mars is Lord of the seventh house, and he is placed in the Eleventh, in Reception of the Sun, and the Moon. Whence it is apparent, that the Publique Enemies of this Nation can do us little harm; nay, they will probably be much as endeavour it; they should rather become friends unto us, and be like to them; for such kinds of Receptions proclaim more of Amity than Enmity; and Consolidate always more than Concede. But should any Nation, or appear as professed and publique Enemies unto us, (of which there is not the least fear) I can boldly say, they will in little time remove their error and forwardness.

The State of the year predicted.

Thirdly, of Private Enemies.

By Private Enemies we are to understand Natives of our own Country, who (like cruel Snakes) lurking in the Bosome of their Natural Mother, would sting her to death in recompence of all her mercies and favours. But their Significator we find in so abject and imbecill condition, that we need not fear but to live tranquillous and happy, maugre their most malicious Thoughts and Actions. ——— Dreamr, Whimfies, Enthusiastical Nonsense and Blasphemies, under pretence of Divine Inspiration, will no longer befooled this (of late twenty years) distressed Kingdome: The Imposture is discovered, and Truth and Honesty will once shine out again among us, as the Sun in his Meridian Glory. Mercy, Lord of the Twelfth, is in Rises, and suffereth by Twenty Testimonies of Weakness, as she before-mentioned Collection maketh to appear. ——— So then we conclude, ———

That both Prince and People will live happily this year; free from the Disturbances of Publique Enemies;

And free from the Attempts, Malice and Power of their Private Enemies;

And in great Fame, Honour and Estimation with their Friends and Neighbours.

To all which Happinities and Blessings (for such they are) God of his mercy continue. Amen.

Of Eclipses this Year.

In this Year have four Eclipses; two of the Sun, and two of the Moon. But we in England shall only see one of the Moon, and that will be almost Central also. The Figure is as followeth.

Of Eclipses.

It is the Opinion of the Learned in Astrologie, that an Eclipse of either of the Luminaries in the Aery Triplex, is the Precursor of Famine and Pestilential Diseases; high and stormy winds, blowing down many Houses and Buildings, sending Trees up by the Roots. Vol. Junii. Supr. Apr. fol. 31.

And Saturn being Lord thereof, and he Retrograde in a fiery Signe, and an Angle, will make the effects the more mischievous and cruel; and it happening in the tenth house, denotes the Vulgar to have their Superiours in low esteem, &c. But the effects hereof do not much concern the English Nation. This Eclipse falls in the third house of his Majesties of Spains Nativity, and points out much mischief to his Neighbours and Relations; weakens and incapacities them for performing of any great kindnesse unto him. It happens also in the seventh house of the King of Denmark; and in the Ascendent of his Majesty of Poland: the enemies of the last will fall, and fall to much misery.

Of Eclipses.

scry, sorrow and distress; the person of the other will be subject to diseases, and his mind afflicted by reason of the actions of many of his subjects. — But that Prince or Potentate, &c. who hath at this time his Medium Caeli directed ad corpus Mercurii, cum & sine Latitudine, and his Sun ad Sextum Lunæ, will not be concerned in the effects of this Eclipse; but by vertue of the happy influence of those Directions, will be famed over the world for his wisdom and great accomplishments, and will be (to admiration) feared and obeyed by his subjects and servants, honoured and beloved of his friends and allies, and his enemies will tremble at their very thoughts of him and his mighty undertakings.

For the other Eclipses, they being inconspicuous unto us, I shall not mention any thing of their Significations; but the times when they happen I have noted in the preceding Calendar. Thus much therefore shall serve for the Judicials of this year.

About eleven years of Age, this Native was stricken with a strange Palsie and a deep Melancholly, which held her nearly to her 17. year. So extreame was her grief, that at sometimes her head would fall on her shoulder, as if it had been spiritless or sinewless; and at other times she was so offended with noise, that the drawing of a Door-latch would distract her solely; and of this last I have been an Ocular & Auricular Witness: But the first, I have onely from her self and friends by relation.

These strange Passions made her friends to believe her under the power of an ill tongue; and some of her wise Doctors (whom I could name) not being acquainted with the cause of her Distemper, to colour and cover their own ignorance, were pleased to pronounce her Bewitched: And hereupon prevailed with her, to try several charms, and other fooleries, (to say no worse) and among the rest to burn her Clothes: all which she, poor Creature, consented unto, and practised — But this not taking, some old women with whom this Maid (in the time of her health) happened to have some jarring words, were laid hold on; and (for her sake, and her Physicians ignorance together) were indicted as Witches, and had much ado to escape with their lives. — Indeed it is a practice too blame-worthy in many able and learned Physicians, as well as Empericks, to term those Diseases Witchcraft that they cannot have the success and honour of a speedy Cure by. And in the distemper of this Native, it was impossible but that all of them who were concern'd therein, should come off with shame and dishonour, as they did.

At the time she was first taken, the Ascendent came by Direction ad  $\odot$  h cum Latit. and to signify its tedious continuance, the same Significator was directed ad  $\odot$  h sine Lat. And  $\odot$  also was directed to the same Promittor cum & sine Latit. as may be seen by these Demonstrations following.

Such holds these ominous and cruel Directions, all happening in Angles and Cardinal signs, we may take notice, that Saturne the Promisor in this cruel mischief, was at the beginning thereof in Libra & Venus & Luna; and by Transit afflicted some of the five Hypochondriacs all the time her Distempers were increasing and violent,

About the 14 year of her age, she began to amend: For her teeth fringed her forehead and Sun a whole year together with a ☿, which alleviated the ill influence of Saturne; the Moon was then also directed to Trium Jovis.

 which is the only remedy against the witchcraft of a bad Direction, is the energy and power of a good one.

A Remarkable Nativity.

Latitude Planetarum.
 D 24 5 North.
 h 1 05 12 South.
 W 6 36 10 North.
 Q 5 54 South.

About the 41 year of Age, this Native had  $\odot$  directed ad corpus  $\text{h}$ , both with and without Latitude; which Direction happening in the tenth house, spent its effects upon his credit and estimation. And that it did so purpose, for (to my knowledge) he was for two years together ever and anon changing his habitation, vexed in suits, perplexed with publick enemies, &c. and so with much sorrow and trouble passed his time until August 1662. at what time the Ascendent came to the body of Mars cum Latitudine; and he then Died of a Scurvy.

I remember about four months before his death he came to me, and asked my opinion of the effects of that Direction; I told him (considering Mars was Lord of the fourth, and that it had laboured under so ominous a Direction as before his intention) that it could not but portend death; and that others would go near to conclude there was his Saturn had begun. But says this Native, You see that I am dead, and not in the least subject to any bodily distemper: I believe therefore (saith he) Astrologia is not certain; and used many more words to that effect. I replied, That he ought not to be so severe in censuring of an Art for a small difference in time; or angry that he was not dead immediately upon the touching of the Direction; but praise God that he had a Link added to his Chain of Life beyond what he could Astrologically expect. And so we parted. The next news that I heard of this Native, was, that he was dead, whereby his diffidence of the verity of Astrologia was taken out of the way.

The Use that I would have Astrologers make hereof, is this: Not to be too peremptory in pronouncing the day of a mans death, nor to the week: As men we may erre; besides the Planets places are not so precisely known unto us, but that we may be subject to error many times a month, two or three, and sometimes more. For if we err in a Planets place but a minute, which is the furieth part of a Degree, we shall erre in time no less then six days, and so proportionably more or less; of which I would that Astrologers take notice. And for other persons I would have them not be too nimble and forward in their censures or determinations concerning an Art they do not understand: for before they dream of it, they may experimentally prove the truth hereof; as formerly Mirandula, Julius Caesar, Vincens the Emperor, &c. and of late this our particular Native.

C O N C L U S I O N.

It may (perhaps) be expected that I should have said something of the great Conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter, and of the pretended pretended uniting of all the Planets in 2. Decemb<sup>r</sup> 1662.

many supposed to bring a Conflagration upon the world.
also the war of the Turks invading the Empire, at which Action the whole Globe (chiefly the European part thereof) stands amazed. But for satisfaction in these things, I shall
